Gilad Atzmon is an anti-Semitic author, writer, and musician who describes himself as an “ex-Israeli” and an “ex-Jew.” He is an outspoken promoter of classic anti-Semitic conspiracy theories and a fierce critic of the State of Israel. Atzmon has engaged in Holocaust diminution and has defended the right of Holocaust deniers to challenge historical narratives and offer revisionist theories about the Holocaust. Atzmon’s works seem to appeal to many fringe audiences including Black nationalists, white supremacists, and Holocaust deniers. In September 2014, he was interviewed on Nation of Islam TV on the [Munir] “Muhammad and Friends” show, and his works have also been cited by former KKK Grand Wizard David Duke and Holocaust denier Ernst Zundel.
