Civics Learning for High School Students

Educators can assign these online civics activities to prepare students for deeper engagement during class or as follow-up assignments that extend learning and allow students to reflect on new concepts, discussion and questions raised during class.

#Activism
Learn about the benefits and drawbacks of hashtag activism while developing your own position on its effectiveness.
Implicit Bias
Explore implicit bias and self-reflect about situations in which you have experienced or encountered everyday type of bias. Understanding bias and discrimination is integral to civics education because it relates to our civil rights.